

ALDERMEN TO ACT ON CITY SEA BATHS

Resolution to Be Introduced by Alderman Higgins for Establishment of Pavilion at Sea Side Park, Coney Island, Where Poor May Enjoy Surf at Low Rate.

Alderman Patrick Higgins declared his intention to-day of introducing a resolution in the Board calling upon the city to establish a city-owned bathing pavilion at Seaside Park, Coney Island.

The enterprise is one which appealed to him, the said, after reading the Evening World articles favoring the project, and he had concluded that the matter was of the greatest importance to the poor of New York City.

"I see no reason," said the Alderman, "why the city of New York should not take possession of a part of the beach at once and before the coming summer term has expired build a bathing pavilion capable of accommodating 1,000 bathers. I have not yet determined whether the pavilion should be free, but as a starter I would suggest that a 5 or 10 cent charge be made for the use of bathing suits. Where the people bring their own suits no charge at all should be made."

"In time the city must take up this proposition in the interests of the poor and sanitation, as well as other projects of similar character. This is supposed to be a progressive age and it is up to the present administration to take advantage of the opportunity to do something tangible and beneficial for the poor. This need not and should not be regarded as a charity. The water is free, surely, and all that is required is to furnish the people with a means of utilizing the beaches in Greater New York to the best possible ends. Under present conditions a poor person wanting to bathe in the ocean at Coney or Rockaway Beach must pay 25 cents for a bathing suit. If that person is a father or a mother with a family of children, who go to the seashore for a day's fun and outing and desire to give the children a dip in the surf it means an outlay of 25 cents a head. That is not right. No monopoly in the matter of bathing along our beaches should be tolerated.

The city now owns a large tract of the beach at Coney Island, and back of the beach is what is known as Seaside Park. Surely no objection can be made to the use of the city-owned beach for the purpose of a city bathing pavilion, surrounded with necessary restrictions. Attendants and instructors in bathing could easily be employed as well as life guards, or the structure themselves could be employed as life guards. The Civil Service list is full of names of men and women who are capable of acting in the needed capacities."

compensation for his personal services and 12 1/2 per cent. of the profits. Roberts was to have 15 per cent., Richards 7 1/2 per cent. and a third man 15 per cent.

This partnership did business for three years. Roberts got $46,024 for his share in the last year and Richards $23,012. At this point the partnership dissolved. They claimed their share in $50,000 worth of stock of the former corporation, which Jones claimed for himself, but which Richards, the bookkeeper, entered in his books in accordance with their view, based on an alleged modification of the original agreement. They threatened suit for an accounting. Then Jones forestalled them with this suit.

BANKER WINS CURIOUS SUIT

Edward Clarence Jones Enters Into Litigation Against Partners to Prevent Them from Suing Him.

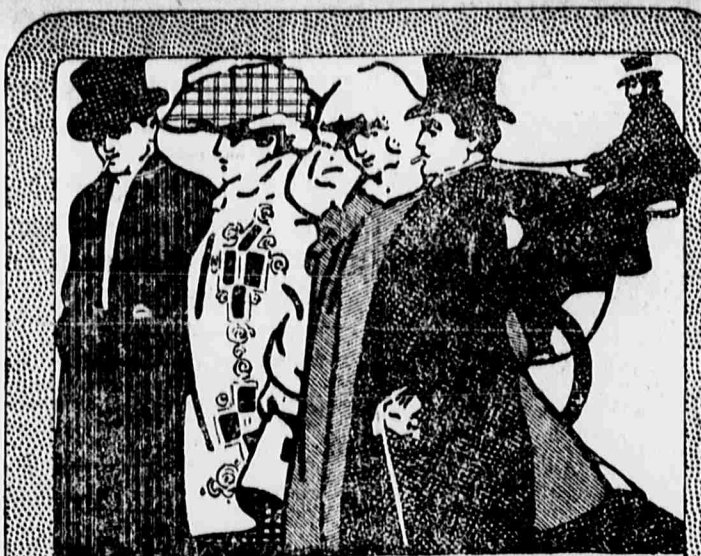

The report of Referee John K. Conway, submitted to the Supreme Court to-day, in a lawsuit between Edward Clarence Jones, banker, of No. 1 Nassau street, and his late partners, Louis H. Roberts and Peyton C. Richards, favors the plaintiff, and Justice Leventritt will be asked to confirm the referee's findings.

Banker Jones said in his complaint that he was suing his late partners to prevent them from suing him. He asked that the contract agreement between him and Roberts and Richards, which they called a "partnership agreement," and he called a "contract between master and servant," be judicially construed, and the so-called partnership declared at an end.

Edmund L. Mooney, with Choate, Hanford & La Roche, represented Banker Jones, and Horace E. Deming and Ford & Tuttle for Roberts and Richards respectively.

Roberts and Richards were members of Banker Jones's staff when, in 1899, the agreement was entered into. The corporation of Edward C. Jones & Company was launched. Jones owned all the stock except two shares held in the names of Roberts and Richards. The contract in dispute provided that the capital stock should be contributed, altered or withdrawn by Mr. Jones alone, as he saw fit, and that the prices received for bonds, notes and other securities should not be considered partnership profits.

Roberts was to receive $100,000 annual salary and Richards $50,000, while Mr. Jones was allowed $25,000 a year as Greatest Men's Shirt Sale of the Year, $1 Values, 57c.

This is a most unusual sale, coming, as it does, just at the needtime. The quantity is simply enormous—a manufacturer's entire stock. The materials are the same as those used this season in shirts that cost from $1.00 to $1.50, and there is not even the excuse of an imperfect thread or an imperfection of any kind to account for the reduction.

There are colors and patterns to suit the taste of any man—light, medium and dark effects, including some of the latest dark grounds with colored embroidered figures that have caught the fancy. The plain blues and plain tan chambray that are so popular are here in plenty.

All have the detached cuffs. Sizes range from 14 to 17 inch. More expensive shirts may be had, but such well-made, attractive appearing, excellent quality shirts are rarely heard of at 57c.

U. S. Serge. MADE EXPRESSLY FOR Brill Brothers.

United States True Blue Serge is the masterpiece material produced by one of the best serge-weaving mills in America.

The yarns are hard twisted, but not wiry, thus preventing cockling.

This serge will not become shiny after a few weeks' wear. It is practically "shiny-proof."

The dye being a pure vegetable indigo insures against that purplish tinge and the liability of fading that are invariably present where aniline dyes are used.

In short, this serge has the wear, look and finish of a cloth costing double.

Notwithstanding that serges have advanced from 20% to 30% in price since last year, we shall be able to sell these suits at the old price, $13.50.

THE TAILORING OF TRUE BLUE SERGES leaves nothing to be desired. The work is done by tailors who are worsted specialists and who thoroughly understand the handling of serge, which is the most unruly of the worsted family. These suits will hold their shape, style and fit under all conditions of wear and wetting. The cloth is just right weight for coolness and comfort, but has the tensile strength and wear-resisting qualities of much heavier fabrics. We show twelve different models, running from conservative to extreme styles, single and double breasted, full lined and half lined, in sizes to fit all $13.50

Without doubt the most wonderful blue serge suit in America under $20.

Custom Tailored Worsteds Suits, $10.

These suits are in this Spring's latest gray effects. They are tailored to hold their shape, fit and style until worn out. The coats have haircloth front stiffening, linen canvas interlinings, worsted serge linings, hand work on collars, lapels and shoulders. No other concern has ever succeeded in giving anything like equal value in suits at... $10

Bench Tailored Worsteds Suits, $15.

Bench tailoring gives an individuality to clothes hitherto possible only in the best made-to-measure garments.

In addition to these fancy worsteds suits at $15 we show high-grade cassimeres and chevrons, and black vicuña thibets, in single and double breasted models; all sizes. The price is at least $5 less than the same grade suits are sold for elsewhere... $15

"Bluffed Edge" Suits, $20 to $30.

Although we carry in clothes at $10, $12.50, $15 and $18 an assortment possibly greater in variety and certainly higher in value than you can find outside of our stores, we devote just as much energy, thought and capital to higher grade garments. We call your attention to the finest ready-for-service clothing ever tailored—"Bluffed-Edge" Clothing. These suits embody all the advantages of the best custom work at half custom-work cost. The prices of these suits, $20, $22.50, $25, $28 and $30.
